About the Fifth Maine Museum

The Fifth Maine Regiment Memorial Hall was built in 1888 by the veterans of the Fifth Maine Volunteer Regiment as a memorial and reunion hall. The veterans created a quiet, almost sacred space where they gathered, reminisced, and drew comfort from each other. Ongoing restoration work has brought the building back to its former glory. This architectural gem is now on the National Register of Historic Places.

Come to the Fifth Maine Museum for spectacular views, cool ocean breezes and our seaside garden. Besides learning about the history of Peaks Island, you'll find wonderful, modestly-priced T-shirts, hats, hoodies, books, etc. And, for the ART WALK we will have our grills going to serve you burgers and hot dogs!
